DIVE CRUISES

An amazing ride with the dinghies into the channels between forest covered quartz islets will allow us to hear and see cacatoes and hornbills while turtles and rays are into just about 2 meters of water. We will also observe an impressive display of primitive rock arts on a cliff.

Our cruises including Triton Bay & Misool offer some of the most beautiful dives in Indonesia with an incredible diversity. There are an interesting alternative for the divers who already dove the Raja Ampat.

In Triton Bay, the black coral forests, the incredible giant soft corals reaching up to the surface, and the abundance of critters will delight the most demanding divers. The ice on the cake are the whale sharks that stay under the fishing plateformes called "bagans".

DIVING

VISIBILITY

The average visibility is 15-20 meters but may be lower in some specific areas or for short periods.

TEMPERATURE

CURRENTS

Currents can be significant on a number of dives while some others are really quiet. Some dives on reefs or pinnacles have to be done on the current exposed side in order to enjoy the best fish life and can therefore be slightly "sporty". Our dive guides always check the current conditions before the dive and will inform you of the conditions. A reef hook is recommended.

NAVIGATION AND ITINERARY

Hereunder: the route of the cruise. This one slightly varies between each cruise depending on weather conditions, currents, visibility and diving. See the full program here.

This is the perfect cruise to fully enjoy East Indonesia's finest marine biodiversity.

The beauty of its amazing soft corals that stick out to the surface is definitely one of the major marine attractions in Triton Bay.

There are over 959 different kinds of coral fish and 471 known types of coral in this area. The other highlights include black coral forests, overflowing schools of sweetlips, vibrant macro lives, and a good chance to encounter whale sharks on "bagans"—the fishing platforms where these giants come to visit from time to time.

WEATHER

The weather is rather variable; even if it is the "dry" season in this region can be expected to rainfall showers. Temperatures of about 30 ° C. Generally calm sea with a few temporary storms. Slight swell in the most northern part.

|--------------------------|--------------------------------|
| • 1st dive:.....07:00am | • Dive time: 60 minutes |
| • 2nd dive: 10:30am | • Maximum Depth : 35 meters |
| • 3rd dive:02:30pm | • Dives into the safety curves |

Due to the large number of dives and the remoteness of the location, we urge divers to stay within the safety curve, to comply with a maximum depth of 35 meters, and to systematically perform a safety stop.

Depending on the guests dive experience, aspirations (photography, macro, etc), and eventual use of nitrox (free for certified divers), the cruise director will arrange the diving groups. These groups are made up of four divers and a dive guide. The dive guides are rotating on a daily basis. Each diver is given a dive tank (DIN & INT available, no need for adapters) and a single location for the duration of the cruise.

A briefing will be conducted by the director of cruises or one of the guides before each dive. It will provide guidance on the site topography, depths, currents and potential hazards, as well as on marine life and the species represented.

The staff carries your tank between the MV Ambai and the dinghies and back. to the dinghies, tanks are disposed in slots and the guide will help you to gear just before to roll back for the dive. Identification books of flora and local fauna are available on board, and the dive guides or the skipper will always help you to identify the strange animal you just saw underwater!

* There are some dive equipment to rent on board: However, all sizes are not necessarily available, so please book for it before the cruise.

* Our cruises are open to divers Padi Advanced Level 2 or equivalent with at least 50 dives logged. Less experienced divers can also participate with a specific supervision that have to be arranged before the cruise.

* An insurance covering medical evacuation and diving accidents is highly recommended. We will request the participants to fill up on board a statement of fitness for the dive activities.

*We will ask you to carefully respect the fauna and flora: have adequate buoyancy to avoid touching the substrate or break any corals; do not touch the animals, do not collect anything; do not to harass wildlife to photography and moderate the number of flashes you impose on them. The use of gloves is not allowed.
