BAJAU

Raja Ampat Discovery aboard Bajau

Sorong to Sorong | Raja Ampat National Park

Raja Ampat is home to seventy percent of the known coral species on the planet, and many of its fish, corals and crustaceans are found nowhere else on earth.

Snorkelling here means drifting beneath wooden pontoons over hard coral teeming with fish, alongside turtles and reef sharks, with the chance of majestic manta rays in their natural habitat.

Reef walls and crystal-clear water sit against rugged islands covered in virgin rainforest.

Kayaks glide along a lagoon river through the jungle, where parrots, hornbills and, for early risers, the red bird of paradise appear.

The view from the hilltop at Piaynemo is one of the great marvels of Raja Ampat.
