

ECOPRO DUYUNG BARU

Komodo Central and South

Labuan Bajo to Labuan Bajo | Central and South Komodo, Nusa Kode and Horseshoe Bay

South Komodo is the wilder, more remote side of the national park, with cooler, nutrient-rich waters teeming with life and fewer boats.

Manta rays are the draw of the wet season, with the best sightings of the year, and Central Komodo adds colourful reefs.

Dramatic walls are covered in soft corals and critters, and one site is a macro paradise and among the most biodiverse in the park.

Nudibranchs, frogfish, pygmy seahorses and the occasional whale ray share the reefs, and a geothermal reef has bubbles rising through unusual life.

On land are the iconic Komodo dragons, remote beaches and lush volcanic backdrops.

Your route

THE DIVING

Diving highlights

- Manta Alley: the best place for manta sightings during the wet season
- Cannibal Rock: a macro paradise and one of Komodo's most biodiverse sites
- Nusa Kode and Yellow Wall: dramatic walls covered in soft corals and critters
- Hot Rocks: a geothermal reef dive with rising bubbles and unusual life
- Abundant nudibranchs, frogfish, pygmy seahorses and occasional whale rays
- Still includes key Central Komodo sites like Batu Bolong, Tatawa and Siaba

SNORKELLING

For snorkellers

This itinerary is suitable for confident snorkellers. Central Komodo offers calm, shallow sites with mantas and turtles, while southern spots may have cooler water and occasional swell, but also host fantastic coral gardens and frequent manta sightings at the surface.

Beyond diving

- Land visit to Rinca or Komodo Island to see the iconic Komodo dragons
- Peaceful anchorages, remote beaches and lush volcanic backdrops
- Fewer boats, more wilderness: a truly off-the-beaten-path experience
