

JAKARE

Raja Ampat South

Sorong to Sorong | Misool, Pienemu and the Dampier Strait

Southern Raja Ampat is a place of gorgonian fans, big fish and mantas, with Misool at its centre.

A channel is packed with huge gorgonian fans, and pinnacles hold healthy pelagic and reef fish.

Tunnels pierce the rock from the surface to below, and soft coral pinnacles in the Dampier Strait are swept by current and crowded with fusiliers, jacks and batfish.

A manta cleaning station sits in shallow water, and the final pinnacles are current dives where mantas sometimes appear.

The last evening is a beach barbecue after a day of swimming, snorkelling and kayaks.
