MALDIVES MASTER

Far South

Gan to Kooddoo | Huvadhoo and Fuvahmulah

Tiger sharks are the headline in the far south of the Maldives, where Fuvahmulah is known for them.

There is healthy coral and reef fish on the north side, and a bluewater dive above the south plateau to watch the pelagic action.

In Huvadhoo, a drift in the blue is known for scalloped hammerhead sightings, while spinner and grey reef sharks patrol the channels.

This reverse route starts at Gan in Addu City, a handy option for guests arriving via Addu rather than Kooddoo.
