

JELAJAHI LAUT

Ambon to Sorong

Ambon to Sorong | Ambon, Banda Sea, Misool and Raja Ampat

Ambon is a muck diving paradise, full of weird and wonderful critters often only a few millimetres in size, such as hairy shrimp, boxer crabs and Donald Duck shrimp.

The route then follows the Spice Route of the Portuguese, with never-ending drop-off walls, rock formations and coral covered slopes.

At the Manuk volcano come banded sea kraits, bubbles coming out of rocks and, with luck, hammerhead sharks out in the blue.

In South Raja Ampat, manta rays are cleaned at their cleaning stations among the most colourful corals.

Central Raja Ampat has current action with grey reef sharks and giant trevally.

The Banda Sea

The route follows the Spice Route of the Portuguese, with never-ending drop-off walls, rock formations and coral covered slopes.

Misool

In South Raja Ampat there are dive sites like Nudi Rock, Boo Window and Magic Mountain, with fish life, manta rays being cleaned at the cleaning stations and the most colourful corals.
There is also a hike up an island and a swim with thousands of stingless jellyfish, before a dive at Farondi.

STOP 4

Central Raja Ampat and the Fam Islands

The diving in the Fam Islands and Central Raja Ampat includes Manta Ridge, Mike's Point, Cape Kri, Blue Magic, My Reef, Melissa's Garden and Mayhem, from calm dives to current action with grey reef sharks and giant trevally.
There is also a climb to the Piaynemo viewpoint.

STOP 5

Pygmy seahorses and exploration

There are five species of pygmy seahorse hiding in the soft corals of Raja Ampat.
These are exploratory trips, and many of the dive sites are not named or on the maps.
